

A Distinctive Choice in the Auto Sector

Leakpro is a unique business detecting and repairing automotive water and air leaks and wind noises in vehicles, serving new and used car dealers. The system itself, besides using ultrasound technology and the latest tools and state-of-the-art equipment, has a unique trademark, décor and logo. The business itself is a low-overhead, profitable opportunity, with most franchisees choosing to operate from home using a vehicle and cellular phone.

Franchisees receive three weeks of training at Leakpro's technical training facility, one week of business development in the franchisee's territory (to introduce them to the dealer network and establish practical work experience) and ongoing training.

With OEM warranty-approved products, factory-trained technicians, up to a lifetime warranty and no effective competition, this high-demand service is a winning combination.
